

It's a beautiful thing to look at health with a holistic perspective, to acknowledge that every part of us – mind, body, and spirit – is connected. It's good to remember that when one part of us suffers or heals, the other areas will too. Every part of you is woven together. This special issue of Vibrant Life® celebrates all the parts of you that create true whole health, including your faith, focus, friends, family, fitness, and food.
